Dr. A.K. Singh
Secretary

Dear Colleagues,

The July 2004, news letter is in front of you. Our association is progressing and our membership is constantly increasing. Lately, our website is having problems, since the previous manager of our website has left and we are forced to launch it a fresh. As soon as that is done, I shall report back to you.

As number of scientific activities are lined up in the near future. Information regarding these conferences is included in the newsletter.

The association has recommended to the MCI a curriculum and syllabus for training. As a result of this institutions imparting training in plastic surgery have switched over to 3 years M.Ch. training program. DNB program has been initiated in few hospitals.

The audited accounts shall be circulated to you in a short while. The last date for submission of accounts is 31st October, 2004. Our General Body meeting shall only be held in November end. Hence, the accounts shall be circulated early and you are requested to send your acceptance/any objections to the treasurer directly.

An important judgement has come from the Supreme Court. I thank Dr. Suresh Gupta for supplying the judgement. A senior plastic surgeon was performing a rhinoplasty (in 1994) on a patient under general anaesthesia. The patient developed cardiac arrest and despite all efforts could not be resuscitated. The lower court, high court and the media, had put criminal charges.

The postmortem done by special medical board of two doctors opined "asphyxia resulting from blockage of respiratory passage by aspirated blood consequently upon surgically incised margin of nasal septum. This indicates that adequate care was not taken to prevent seepage of blood down the respiratory passage which resulted in asphyxia".

The magistrate passed an order on 28-11-1998 stating "because of the negligence of the doctors while conducting minor operation for removing nasal deformity, gave incision at wrong part due to that blood seeped into the respiratory passage and because of that patient immediately collapsed and died. The doctor was charged under section 304A IPC for criminal negligence".

During the lengthy court processes, the anaesthesiologist who was made the co-accused, passed away. I would like to quote the relevant provisions of IPC-

"304A. Causing death by negligence - Whoever causes the death of any person by doing any rash or negligent act not amounting to culpable homicide, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend two years, or with fine, or with both."

"80. Accident in doing a lawful act.- Noting is an offence which is done by accident or misfortune, and without any criminal intention or knowledge in the doing of a lawful act in a lawful manner by lawful means and with proper care and caution."

"88. Act not intended to cause death, done by consent in good faith for person's benefit.- Nothing which is not intended to cause death, is an offence by reason of any harm which it may cause, or be intended by the doer to cause, or be known by the doer to cause, or be known by the doer to be likely to cause, to any person for whose benefit it is done in good faith, and who has given a consent, whether express or implied, to suffer that harm, or to take the risk of that harm."

On the basis of the above facts and discussions the learned bench of Supreme Court Hon'ble judges opined. "For every mishap or death during medical treatment, the medical man cannot be proceeded against for punishment. Criminal prosecutions of doctors without adequate medical opinion pointing to their guilt would be doing great disservice to the community at large, because if the courts were to impose criminal liability on hospitals and doctors for everything that goes wrong, the doctors would be more worried about their own safety than giving all best treatment to their patients, This would lead to shaking the mutual confidence between the doctor and patients. Every mishap or misfortune in the hospital or clinic of a doctor is not a gross act of negligence to try him for an offence of culpable negligence".

"After examining all medical papers accompanying the complaint, we find that no case of recklessness or gross negligence has been made out against the doctor to compel him to face the trial for offence under section 304A of the IPC. As a result of the discussion aforesaid on the factual and legal aspect, we allow this appeal and by setting aside the impugned orders of the Magistrate and of the High Court, quash the criminal proceedings pending against the present doctor who is accused and appellant before us".

The reason why I have quoted this in details is on two counts. (1) Doctors should know the relevant judicial clauses which directly effect them. (2) There shall be a backlash by the media and others. We have to be cautious about it. The media is already claiming that as a result of this judgement doctors shall be negligent and under the umbrella of the judgement shall go scot free. (3) The word 'gross' is quite subjective and may be still be used to impose section 304A.

Looking forward to meeting you in Jaipur.

With Regards,
Dr. A.K. Singh
